Closing Note

Isn't it amazing just how many observances there are? As we put together this calendar I kept exclaiming about the events that could be used as a basis for some fun contests and activities on our blogs. Events and observances are not only to be made into posts. If any of them particularly fits your blog topic by all means use them as a promotional tool. Create some festivity to celebrate or honor the day or week.

Now that you have had a bunch of ideas what to blog about, you need to organize them so you won't lose track of your ideas and act on them. Believe me, I've had tons of topics before yet never quite got around to blogging them. The solution, a simple but effective planner. It is amazing how much clarity this planner can give you.

Our team is already hard at work on this planner which you can simply print out and put in your binder and get planning right away. They should be done with it in a few days. Stay tuned for that.
